

Preparing for Adulthood

Bromley's 14 - 25 Transition Day

Following the success of the first Bromley 14 - 25 Transitions Day we are busy planning our next event.

The first 14 - 25 Transition Day offered an opportunity for parents and/or carers and young people with special educational needs and/or disabilities from across Bromley to meet directly with professionals from Bromley Council our health partners, community partners and other local service providers to learn about the support available for young people on their journey to adulthood.

Feedback has told us that while parents, carers and young people welcomed the chance to meet directly with service providers and to attend our information workshops, some families were unable to join us on the day.

In response and so that we can maximise the future opportunities for everyone to attend we are asking for your views about the best date, time, format and venue for our next event.

Please help us to make this a success by completing this short, 5-point online questionnaire.

Your views and those of your young person will directly influence the next event which we hope will be even bigger and even better!

Please click here to complete the questionnaire by Monday 29th November.
